History of Horse Show

THE FONTBONNE HORSE SHOW, the result of cooperative efforts of students, faculty members, and parents, was presented for the first time in 1934. The show is presented under the joint sponsorship of the Physical Education Departments of Fontbonne College and St. Joseph's Academy. Trophies are awarded in all classes, provision being made for advanced, novice, and beginner riders. However, competition is not the guiding spirit of this enterprise. The Fontbonne Horse Show has a two-fold purpose; to develop high standards of sportsmanship, and to demonstrate the equitation ability of the students participating.

History of Fontbonne College

Fontbonne College, directed by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet, was opened in the fall of 1923 at St. Joseph's Convention, 6400 Minnesota Avenue, and moved in 1925 to its five new buildings at Wydown and Big Bend Boulevards in Clayton. The college was dedicated by the Most Reverend Archbishop John J. Glennon, D.D., on Friday, October 15, 1926, the Feast of St. Teresa, special patroness of the college and of the Sisters of St. Joseph, whose congregation was founded on her Feast in the year 1650.

The college was named for Mother St. John Fontbonne, superior in Lyons, France, to whom in 1835 Bishop Rosati of St. Louis sent a request for Sisters of St. Joseph to assist him in his missionary fields. In response to this request, six sisters came to Carondelet from Lyons. From this beginning of six sisters the congregation of St. Joseph has grown until the sisters in this country, affiliated with the St. Louis Mother House, number close to 4,000. Fontbonne is a direct descendant of the first humble school founded in Carondelet by Mother St. John Fontbonne's followers.

When Fontbonne College opened in 1923, twenty students enrolled for regular and Saturday classes. That enrollment figure has grown to 569 for the scholastic year, 1944-1945. Eight students were graduated in the first Commencement exercises in 1927. In 1944 thirty-four students received their degrees.

Fontbonne College is a corporate college of St. Louis University, and, as such, as accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Fontbonne College is a member of the National Catholic Educational Association and of the Association of American Colleges, and it is registered by the State of Missouri Department of Education for State Teacher Certificates.

The college is empowered by the State of Missouri to grant the following degrees: Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Science in Home Economics, and Bachelor of Science in Physical Education. Special courses are offered in the department of art, speech and dramatic art, journalism, sociology, and economics. The Little Theatre, a wing of Fine Arts Hall, is equipped with scenic and lighting facilities of the first order. The gynasium, swimming pool, and athletic field afford excellent recreational opportunities.

The purpose of the institution is two-fold: first, to fit young women for life, by producing women of strong moral character with high standards of honor, integrity, and courtesy; with trained intelligence which will enable them to understand, at least in part, the complex problems of modern civilization and the manner of meeting them adequately and with appreciation for true values and culture. The second purpose of the college is to equip young women for living, by producing women who have acquired that specialized, professional, and technical knowledge in the fields of chosen interests which will enable them to be efficient in their particular callings.

History of St. Joseph's Academy

St. Joseph's Academy, a Catholic high school for the education of Catholic girls, was approved as an educational institution in 1853, the date of its incorporation, but its history goes back to the year 1836. The Academy was located in Carondelet for more than half a century until 1925, when it was transferred to Wydown and Big Bend Boulevards.

The Academy occupies the building at the Northwest corner of the Fontbonne group, facing Wydown Boulevard. The students share the privileges of St. Joseph's Chapel, the main library in Ryan Hall, the Fine Arts Building, the gymnasium, the cafeteria, and the athletic field. The courses of study are the same as those offered by the standard high schools throughout the country, and the requirements for entrance and for graduation comply with those of the standard high schools of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Four regular four-year courses are offered: Classical course, Commercial course, Scientific course, and the General course.

An earnest effort is made to produce in each girl the best physical, mental, and moral growth of which she is capable. This growth is sought by providing healthful and pleasant surroundings, the best and most thorough instruction, and sincere and fine influences for spiritual development. The purpose of the school has always been to train women to strength, usefulness, and culture, fitting them for the various duties and opportunities of life, and to unite this training with the atmosphere of a genuine Christian home.

St. Joseph's Academy is affiliated with the National Catholic Education Association, accredited by the University of Missouri and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and officially approved by the State Board of Education of Missouri as a four year Senior High School, Class A.
