Homecoming Queen of 1950, HELEN MARKEY came to Fontbonne from Tulsa, Oklahoma. Helen, a senior majoring in Sociology, is president of the Resident Students' Association. Extraordinary happenings seem to be her fate.

MARY JIM GRATIAA, Penny Circus Queen of 1950, became the fourth member of her class to reign over the annual F. A. A. event. A graduate of St. Joseph's Academy, M. J. is an art major; her artistic contributions in the Pep Club musicals are noteworthy, as is her ability as an equestrian.

Personifying the traditional Irish humor and wit, MR. PADRAIC GREGORY lectured to the students on Irish history and literature early in the year. Beginning with a description of the Gaelic temperament, Mr. Gregory discussed the development of Irish literature in relation to the history of that country and the present status of thoroughly Irish literary achievements. Jonathan Swift and George Bernard Shaw may be found in English literature books, but Mr. Gregory issued a warning in effect that England had better not "take over" any more literary sons of Erin.

That the remembrance of the retreat exercises of 1951 are still vivid is due unreservedly to FATHER LUCIUS F. CERVANTES, S. J. These three days of prayer, with conferences concerning the liturgy of the Mass, marriage, peace of conscience, and the personality of Christ, will certainly rank high on the list of "bests" for the school year. The role women have to play in the world could not be overlooked, and Father Cervantes stressed its importance by saying: "Women, by the fact that they are women, by the fact that they understand so much better than do men what love really means, are better instruments for bringing love into this hate-filled world."

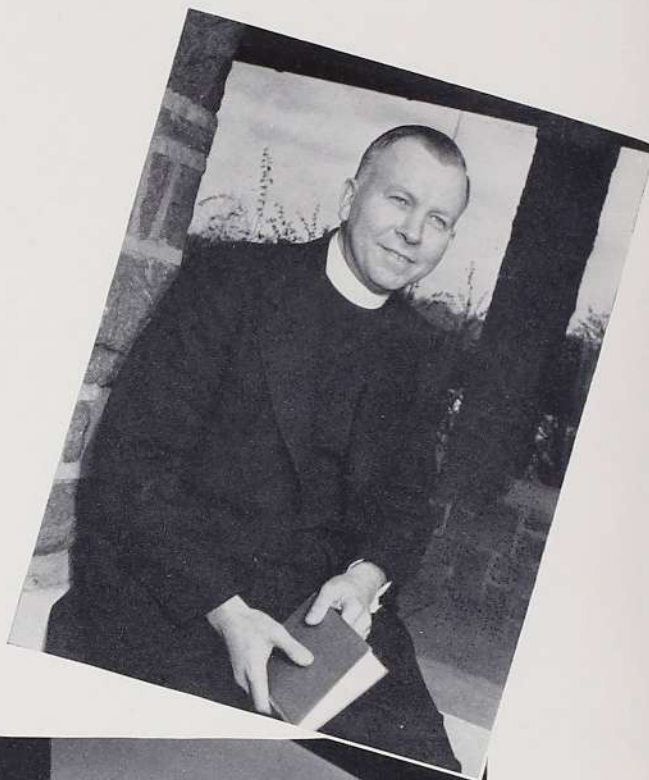

Fontbonne's candidate to the Fall Festival at St. Louis University was MARY CONSTANCE FIEDLER, chairman of the Eucharistic committee of the Sodality. In addition to this office, Connie is vice-president of the Junior class and a major in the Home Economics department.

MISS ELIZABETH COBB, daughter of the late American humorist Irving Cobb, regaled students and faculty members alike with a humorous account of her recent trip to Rome. Her sincere advice regarding converts, and the heartfelt appreciation of her own faith, will long be remembered at Fontbonne.

REVEREND VICTOR T. SUREN, co-director of the Central Bureau of the Central Verein and head of the Archdiocesan Bureau for Displaced Persons, was College Day speaker and an assembly speaker during the past school year. Discussing the religious aspects of a college day celebration, Father Suren prompted the student body to keep the "lamp of Christian charity burning brightly" so they will be prepared when Christ comes.

From Haydn to Prokofieff was the program of MR. JAMES BALL at this most successful night assembly. An instructor in music at Fontbonne, Mr. Ball is widely known for his artistic talent as a pianist. Although "Etud-e" and "Epilogue-lent" may have confused the not-too-well-informed, "encore" is one term all understood and requested.
