preside.

Ann Muschong, '36, will discuss the Encyclical on Christian Education of Youth by Pope Pius XI. Ann O'Connell,
'37, will speak about Peace and the College Curriculum. Catholic Thought on International Peace is the subject of the paper to be read by Doreen McMahon,
'36. Hortense Sandweg, '37, will dis-cas, '36, will close the program with her paper, Goal of a Catholic Education.

The program has been planned in accordance with the outline given by the National Catholic Welfare Confer-dent to the opportunities which Catholic education offers for the development of the intellectual, moral, and religious faculties of the individual.

The outline covers a wide field, including in its scope the following topics: world peace, Catholic education, problems of youth, social justice, religious freedom for Mexico, the sanctity of the home, and Catholic Action. It is the hope of the N.C.W.C. that the discussion of these problems will stimulate the interest of Catholic youth and arouse a desire to participate intelligently in the solution of present day problems.

Upper Classmen Laud Freshman Class' Sportsmanship

The array of strange apparel and equipment, and manifestation of strange behavior which were evident in corridor and classroom during the period of probation for freshmen, did more than amuse the upper classmen for a week. It proved the sportsmanship of the new group which is entering Fontbonne. The freshman class, by their staunch adherence to regulations, their willingness to help, and their brave good humor in the presence of trying situations, proved themselves capable of accepting the responsibility which will be theirs to carry on the traditions and ideals of Fontbonne.

We feel confident that the splendid spirit shown in their initiation will be carried over into every other field of activity in school life. With such evidence of high standards of sportsmanship and loyalty to the institution displayed by freshmen students we may, with the cooperation of the upperclassmen, look forward to a most successful and active year.

Members who are willing to obey orders meted out to them by their superiors are an asset to any organization.
 Freshmen, we salute you!

Radio Guild Presents Shakespearian "King" Plays

The realization of the difficulty of making Shakespearian drama accessible and acceptable to the general public has given rise to several commendable plans. The adoption of Shakespeare's plays by Hollywood marked the first attempt to eradicate the idea that this literature is the exclusive property of students. The second attempt is being made in the form of radio broadcasts of Shakespeare's plays dealing with the Kings of England.

The programs will be broadcast in the Radio Guild period from 3:30 to 4:30 on Thursday afternoons, over KWK and the Blue network. The dramas, which will be enacted by a distinguished cast of Shakespearian actors, will be broadcast chronologically, the period of the principal character determining the order of presentation. The cycle will bring the "King Dramas" to the air in the following order: King John, Richard II, Henry V, Henry VI, and Richard III.

The wonderful opportunities offered by these programs are being recognized by schools throughout the nation, which are completing plans to use them as required work by the pupils to supplement the regular courses in literature and history.

Societies Need Committees. Why Not Efficient Ones?

The purpose of appointing committees, according to Hoyle, is to insure the smoothness and completeness of organization plans. It is, therefore, with great distress and irritation that we view in many instances non-functioning committees. This sad state of affairs places the brunt of burden, at the last minute, on the student president or on the student chairman.

It is not fully appreciated nor is it generally understood that the success of any undertaking rests primarily on the competent and efficient handling of details. This function depends on committees, small units, and not on the entire organization.

To assume membership on committees should mean something to the individual. It is a duty to be accepted with sincere interest, knowledge of what is to be done, and with eagerness to get it done on time. Therefore, committee heads and members should be chosen with due deliberation and insight, as to the capabilities of the individuals. Few individuals, we might add, because it seems that committees should work more effectively if they were composed of a small number.

Large committees should be abolished. The only purpose for their persistent existence seems to be the necessity to include every member in the club or class. This has proved not a necessity but a detriment. The keynote should be quality not quantity.

IMPORTANT DATES TO BE REMEMBERED

For the workingest college student in the world we nominate a certain junior at Miami University. This man is carrying 20 study hours a week and auditing one course. There are two, and just two, reasons why freshmen flunk out of college—says Dr. L. L. Cluck of the University of Texas.

1. Either freshmen get too scared of their studies.
2. Or they don't get scared enough and go to sleep.

Instructor In Social Sciences Interviewed

Alphonse H. Clemens Explains Function of Catholic Central Bureau Founded 27 Years Ago.

In a recent interview given to a reporter of the Font, Alphonse H. Clemens, M. A., instructor of sociology and economics at Fontbonne, discussed the purpose, origin, and work of the Catholic Central Bureau. Mr. Clemens, who is also a member of the Bureau's staff, stated the Bureau is a national, social, economic, and press foundation supported by the Central Verein, a national organization.

"The purpose of the Bureau," explained Mr. Clemens, "is to further the spread and inculcation of correct principles of social reform which are opposed to the extremes of unscrupulous, exploiting capitalism, on the one hand, and the attempts of radical, materially founded socialism, on the other."

Founded In 1908.

Founded in 1908 by Frederick P. Kenkel, L.I.D., K.S.G., K.H.S., the Bureau has carried out an international program of activities in the broadest possible way. Mr. Kenkel, it may be added, is the oldest living Catholic sociologist in the country.

Mr. Clemens stressed the fact that before the public was actually aware of the existence of that very complex problem, Social Justice, the Catholic Central Bureau realized that the problem must not be neglected; that it must be coped with; and that a just solution must be offered.

Teacher And Organizer.

The Bureau acts as teaching medium through the publication of two monthly magazines, Central Blatte and Social Justice and Catholic Women's Bulletin. The practical method is employed in coordinating the efforts of the state branches, and in agitating for or against the various measures proposed in both the national and state legislatures.

The Bureau promotes credit unions, study clubs, and guilds to ease the economic burden of various situations. At present it is working on the formation of a central cooperative bank to be a kind of clearing house for the various credit unions of the archdiocese.

Mr. Clemens mentioned that St. Elizabeth's Settlement, 1833 South Eighth St., a clinic for social case work, is one of the very practical projects of the Bureau.

Investigations Of The Bureau.

"Still further," he continued, "the Bureau has conducted investigation of labor and political conditions in several parts of the country, has tried to remedy the difficulties, and finally has published the results of the investigations."

The library of St. Louis offices, 3835 Westminster Place, contains over 30,000 books, some of which are unduplicated. It also has an unlimited number of news clippings bearing on economic problems. As this library is open to the public, students in classes of sociology from many universities do research there.

Dr. Salandra's History Class Visits Museum

The class in the Renaissance and Reformation will visit the Art Museum next Monday, November 11, at 10:30 a. m. During the tour of the Museum, particular attention will be directed to the works of the painters, sculptors, and architects of the Revival of Learning.

The Art Museum, located in Forest Park, is fortunate in having a valuable Renaissance collection. An original glazed terra cotta of St. Ann by della Robbia is especially noteworthy.

There are also plaster casts of the Bronze Doors of the Baptistry at Florence by Ghiberti. The finished doors have twenty-eight scenes from the life of Christ, the disciples, and the four great fathers of the Church. Nearby are Slave Figures and a Madonna by Michelangelo, and a statue of St. George by Donatello, the great Florentine sculptor who freed his art from the Gothic mannerism and gave it naturalness.

Members of the class include the following: Sister Susanne Marie, C. S. J., Sister Francis Xavier, C. S. J., Clare Harder, Dorothy Coleman, Lorraine Korte, Doreen McMahon, Gertrude Bey, Vera Gauvin, Agnes Gilmore, Ann McNamara, Dorothy Mueller, Bernice Becker, Mary Catherine Chamblin, Marie Getz, and Vera Stueber. Dominic Salandra, Ph. D., is the instructor.

Test At Northwestern Reveals Startling Facts

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Evanston, Ill.—Here are some of the answers given by journalism students in a recent test at Northwestern University: Addis Ababa, king of the Riffs. Sir Anthony Eden, captain of the stricken liner Dixie. Maxim Litvinoff, king of the Bulgarians. Nicholas Murray Butler, governor of Oklahoma.

Sir Samuel Hoare, according to one student reporter, is commander of the French fleet. Richard E. Byrd is a senator from West Virginia. I. C. C. stands for Illinois Conservation Camp, "a branch of the C. C. C." Mickey Cochrane is a professional swimmer and diver, Fred Perry, an intrepid Arctic explorer. J. Literary Career Demands Ability, Time, And Patience

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

New York—"Insidious advertisements" which claim to teach people to write constitute "one of the worst rackets of the present day," Mary Ellen Chase, novelist, recently told a class of Columbia University extension students. Thousands of people, a high percentage of them young men and women, are being mulcted by the "racket," Miss Chase declared.

Considerable ability, plenty of time and patience, and an independent income were classified by the author of "Mary Peters" as important prerequisites for a literary career.
