

Commencement 1991

THE DRESS

American academic costume was not established until 1895. It consists of three types of gowns and three styles of hoods. The bachelor's gown has long, pointed open sleeves with no ornamentation. The master's gown has even longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom but feature openings about halfway down for the hands. The doctor's gown has full-length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. The color of caps and gowns is usually black; however, some universities feature doctoral gowns of distinctive colors, such as Harvard's crimson and Yale's deep blue. Many schools outside the United States have also adopted colorful gowns.

The doctor's hood is the longest and fullest among degrees. The major field of study can be determined from the velvet facing on the hood according to the following color scheme: White, the arts; gold-yellow, science; purple, law; apricot, nursing; green, medicine; sapphire, business administration; lemon, librarianship; scarlet, theology; dark blue, doctors of philosophy.

The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the institution which granted the degree. Fontbonne College's hood lining colors are purple and gold.

The academic procession is led by the faculty marshal. The marshal is traditionally the faculty member with the longest service to the College.

Following the marshal is the class moderator, a member of the College Community elected by students to this honor, and degree candidates. Members of the Fontbonne College faculty and staff then follow, wearing the academic dress of their respective degree-granting institutions. The procession ends with the Fontbonne College Board of Trustees and the members of the platform party.

For your convenience, the College has designated an area exclusively for the use of photographers. This roped section, just west of the platform, will be opened for you by the ushers only during the actual conferring of degrees. If the ceremony is held indoors at Concordia Fieldhouse, a very small photography area is available to the left of the stage. The balconies may also be used to film the ceremony.

HONORARY DEGREE

As we near the 21st century our global perspective grows along with the world's ever-changing events. The recent Gulf War has given us all a new insight into our planet. Fontbonne College stands apart from other colleges and universities in its efforts to provide students with a ceaseless desire to learn, and an appreciation of the world around them. In promoting this approach to life, the College recognizes individuals whose lives inspire others to do the same.

Earle H. Harbison Jr., President and Chief Operating Officer of Monsanto, meets the challenge of developing a greater global vision. He believes in the mission to educate and create responsible citizens of the world. Today's graduates are tomorrow's future.

Through the messages he brings to others as one of St. Louis' top businessmen; through his example as a community leader; through his life of giving and loving, Earle Harbison exemplifies the type of leadership to which Fontbonne graduates aspire.

For upholding and continuing the mission of Fontbonne College, the President and the Board of Trustees of Fontbonne College confer on Earle H. Harbison Jr.

Doctor of Business Administration, honoris causa
This eleventh day of May, nineteen hundred and ninety-one
