Faculty Names Six Seniors, Four Juniors To Who's Who

Awards Based On Leadership, Character, Future Potentialities, And Scholarship

Ten students, six senior and four juniors, were chosen by the faculty last week to represent Fontbonne College in the Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Before casting their ballots, which were secret and unsigned, faculty members were particularly urged to bear in mind the various qualities which determine the selections: leadership, character, scholarship, and potentialities of future usefulness to business and society. The students chosen are:

Adelaide Allen, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Allen of New Madrid, Missouri, was treasurer of the junior class last year.

Olive Baer, senior, daughter of Mrs. Baer and sister of the school librarian, was secretary-treasurer of the Mission Unit last year, and is vice-president of it for this year.

Aleen Block, senior, daughter of Dr. Alex Block, is president of the student body and editor of the year book. She was awarded Who's Who last year also.

Audrey Murphy, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, has been secretary of the Poetry Club for the past two years, is treasurer of the Footlights Club, and secretary of the Sodality.

Evelyn Marie Numainville, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Numainville of Hot Springs, Arkansas, is secretary of the French Club.

Barbara Raupp, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raupp of Decatur, Illinois, is city editor of The Font this year and was president of the sophomore class last year.

Mary Riedel, senior, daughter of Mrs. Riedel of Hannibal, Missouri, is secretary of this year's senior class.

Marie Sansone, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sansone, is prefect of the Sodality, and last year was treasurer of the student body and Sigma Beta Mu, and vice-president of the Mission Unit.

Mary Rita Wahlert, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wahlert, is secretary of the student body, president of Phi Beta Chi, and was vice-president of the junior class last year.

Annual Homecoming Set For November 8; Afternoon Card Party And Evening Supper Are Features

The sixth annual homecoming celebration for alumnae, students, parents, and friends of Fontbonne College and St. Joseph's Academy will be held at Fontbonne College gymnasium on Saturday, November 8. Co-chairmen Mrs. John J. Barda, president of the Mothers' Club, and Patrick J. Gibbons, president of the Fathers' Club, are in charge of general arrangements. A card party and social will be held in the afternoon, to be followed by supper in the cafeteria.

Mary Alice Guelker, Junior, Reigns As "Most Popular" Girl At F.A.A.'s '41 Circus

The crowning last Friday evening of Mary Alice Guelker, junior, as queen and most popular girl of the school, was the colorful climax to an evening of carnival spirit and fun—Fontbonne's Penny Circus. Mary Alice merited the distinction by receiving the greatest number of votes. Her attendants were, in the order of votes which they received, Catherine Pendergrast, sophomore; Frances Lynch, freshman, and Arkie Lee Pratt, senior.

She Wore—

Mary Alice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guelker, 2724 Greer avenue, and is a physical education major. For the occasion she wore a grey herringbone tweed dress with a white collar and carried a bouquet of mums.

After the coronation Mary Alice reigned over the circus, while clowns and side show performers displayed their talents. It was she who announced the winners of attendance prizes, cakes, and other articles that were raffled.

Other Features

Besides the coronation there were numerous other interesting features of the Circus. Among these were the "Freak Show," fortune telling by a gypsy woman, dart throwing, bowling, bingo, and of course, the ever popular refreshment booth. The clowns that wandered about under the big tent looked vaguely familiar, but cavorted as professionally as Barnum & Bailey's best.

Executive Committee

Serving as members of the executive committee are the newly elected officers of the parents' organizations. Mothers' Club officers are: Mrs. A. Auler and Mrs. J. L. Forrester, vice-presidents; Mrs. H. Gruber, secretary; Mrs. A. Wahlert, treasurer. Fathers' Club officers are: vice-president, Joseph A. McCarthy; secretary, W. N. Simon; treasurer, Felix F. Callier. Miss Rosemary Murphy, president of St. Joseph's Alumnae, and Miss Vita Viviano, president of the Fontbonne College Alumnae, complete the executive committee.

Other Committees

The chairmen of the various homecoming committees are: card party, Mrs. S. C. Tracy; dinner committee, Mrs. J. L. Forrester; benefit committee, Miss Rosemary Murphy; cake committee, Miss Vita Viviano; attendance prizes, Mrs. A. L. Houlehin; turkey committee, Joseph A. McCarthy; refreshments, James Macken; announcement committee, Mr. A. L. Houlehin.

Prizes Awarded

Among the prizes to be awarded are a combination record player and radio, a lady's wrist watch, and a silk comfort.

The Mothers' Club has planned a home cooked dinner to be served in the cafeteria from five to eight o'clock. All alumnae, students, parents, and friends are invited to attend. Admission will be fifty cents plus five cents federal tax.

Dr. Steinbiecker Will Speak at Assembly

On November 10, Fontbonne will present at assembly Dr. Paul Steinbiecker, who will discuss "The Internal Threats to Our Democracy." Dr. Steinbiecker received both his A. M. and his Ph. D. at the University of Cincinnati, the latter in 1934. Since this time Dr. Steinbiecker has been an instructor in political science at St. Louis University.

To The Font Staff:

It is with deep regret that I announce that, effective as of this issue, I am resigning, of my own free will and accord, as editor of The Font. I believe it my duty to the staff to list my reasons.

Conditions beyond my control have brought this about. I believe that I am far from prejudiced when I say that the position which I have been privileged to hold last year and this year is just about the most difficult and strenuous in the whole school.

Worn out from staying up till three and four o'clock in the morning, working and planning the paper, my present state of health demands a rest. I have not done complete justice to my studies, since all deadlines have to be met, regardless of how many exams and tests there are the following day. It has made it increasingly difficult for me to support the burdens of other organizations.

I would particularly like to thank a most wonderful staff for their splendid cooperation and loyalty. With their assistance and capable help The Font has been transformed into a school paper far above the average. The student body has been most appreciative.

May my successor have the best of luck, and a row of eight page editions. (Just a dreamer, aren't I?)

The Font will not assume responsibility for the opinions voiced in this column. Such opinions are solely those of the writer.

Dear Editor,

The other day I rode home with a girl from school and I asked her why she hadn't shown up at the school affairs already been given this year. She nonchalantly tossed her head and replied that she thought they would be terribly boring!

When asked why she didn't come to the movie recently shown, she said that she had seen it once before and that if she saw a picture twice she became violently ill! Then I managed to muster enough courage to feebly inquire: "Why didn't you come to the hockey game Friday?" She looked vague for a moment. "Hockey? Oh, you mean that silly game with sticks and a ball! Well, I hear that if you go to one of those games you have to yell those dumb cheers and that would make my voice sound soooo raspy! Besides, we never win." At that I almost dropped my teeth, and even the old Dinky gave an extra violent lurch.

That episode, my dear Editor, is something that should not have happened, even to a termite! A single phrase will explain the young lady's attitude. NO SCHOOL SPIRIT. If everyone would come to the affairs that the various classes and groups give, they wouldn't be boring and they wouldn't be dull. If everyone would come to the hockey games, maybe our team would win. After all, how do you think those kids feel when they're out there running their legs off and nobody is cheering for them? It sorta takes the spirit out of a fellow, believe me.

So come on gang, get into the swing of things. If your voice gets raspy, get some gargle!

Disgusted Dora.

Dear Editor,

Well, the "rah, rah" season is at its peak, and I yelled myself hoarse at the Fontbonne-Harris game last Friday afternoon in the park. Wasn't it wonderful to see all those Fontbonne girls out there cheering the team! Even though we lost the game by just one point, we scored some points for our side in another way. What I am trying to get at, "dear editor," is the school spirit that everyone is "bubbling over with" around here.

It all began with the freshmen parties in September. I know that every girl in the school did her part to make the freshmen feel "at home," and besides that, we had a wonderful time ourselves.

There have been many all school affairs since September, and the students did their best to make them a success, and I know that they will stand behind the hockey team in every one of their games, and that they'll support everything else that will come up in the future.

Lotta Cheer

It is very difficult to express how very sorry the student body and faculty are over the illness of Sister Jeanne D'Arc. To her family and friends we extend our sincere sympathy.

To substitute for Sister Jeanne D'Arc, a new member has been added to the faculty. She is Mrs. Marcella Fries. Mrs. Fries formerly studied under Sister Jeanne

• where do we go from here?

What do we read in the papers?

Maybe you're aware of the vast amount of propaganda accompanying the present world situation. There's more to it than organized committees and bunds—and there is more to it than you read in the papers! Maybe the European war means nothing to you but tax on lipstick and jewelry, or maybe it just means all the men have been drafted!

You may be at fault if all you've learned about the crisis was on the news flashes and in headlines. But, taking it for granted that you've read at least the lead stories, we're putting the blame all on the press. This is an age when each event has innumerable repercussions in every direction. A strike in a coal mine affects the Royal Air Force and a bomb dropped in Russia or China can be felt by Mr. Average Business Man way over in America—and by Fanny Fontbonne as well. What they give us in the newspapers are the facts that the bomb fell or the mine is shut down, when what is really needed in our complex times is a good interpretative account of its effects so that the average American can know what it's all about.

Those who don't need the news interpreted for them are those who are making the news. As for us, we need authoritative opinions on social and economic reactions in our own country. We have facts accurately as far as possible and as quickly as possible, but that's only half of the obligation of the press to the citizens. We want to know why that luxury tax has been imposed and where the draftees go from here!

• show me the way to homecoming

A Homecoming of any sort always brings with it the pleasure that comes with new acquaintances and the renewal of long-standing friendships. Ours at Fontbonne has always stayed pleasantly in the minds of those who attended.

Since it is the sixth Homecoming Fontbonne has had, there should be a long list of enthusiastic supporters. Family reunions are always happy affairs; why not a Homecoming when the parents of students can meet the families of other students? Some who have never attended one of these traditional gatherings have only to go once to discover their error. Not only does a Homecoming bring people together in a congenial group, but it also serves as an indication of the standing of our college as shown by her alumnae and their friends.

Graduates of past years are well-represented, so girls still in school should be doubly anxious to be at Homecoming. One of the best ways for a student to show her gratitude for the privilege of being able to attend whatever social gathering she wishes, is to be present at Homecoming. It is her duty to preserve the common interest of parents, faculty, and friends in our school.

D'Arc. She interned at Desloge and St. Mary's Hospitals, and for the last two years has been head of the dietetics department at St. Mary's Hospital in Kansas City.

Because of the tremendous work with which Monseigneur Steck is burdened, he has been unable to continue as professor of the Senior Religion Class. Father Fulkerson, a member of the St. Louis University Faculty, is taking his place.

Two other additions to the faculty are Sister Teresa Joseph O'Brien, who is assistant to the Registrar, and Sister Blandina, R. N., who is taking Sister Rose Aurelia's place as the school nurse. She came from St. Joseph's Hospital in Hancock, Missouri.

Do You Want To Set World On Fire? Sacred Secrets Sacrificed To Snooper

Sometime in your life, in the very depths of your inner self, you've had a secret urge to do the unexpected, to make history, to create, to do something. We've tried to delve into the depths of some of these souls and here is the awful truth.

What is Your Secret Ambition?

Joe Lorenz, senior—"Well, every sane person wants to get her man, that's beside the point. I want to be another wrong way Corrigan. When life gets dull I'll join the Canadian Auxiliary's woman's air force."

Pat Luce, sophomore—"Me? I'm dying to go over and marry Hitler, and convert him and bring him back." (N. B. Convert him if you can, but keep him over there.)

Elizabeth Ann Lucas, freshman—"Ah yes! I want to set a new record. I'd like to have sextuplets." Afterthought—"Say, you're not going to print this are you?"

Mary Alice Schneblin, junior—"I've always wanted to wear size 4½ shoe."

Miss Horgan—A. B. A. M. Ed. M.—"I've always wanted to be the President. Yet, I'd be contented as a blues singer." (N. B. Ask those sufferers of the Press Room if she'll make the grade.)

Mary Meyer, senior—"I have no ambition, secret or otherwise."

Jean Mooney, freshman—"I'd like to be able to walk in the rain without having my hair come down."

Rosemary Woelfle, sophomore—"Do I wish I were a blonde!"

Anneliese Bauer, senior—"There is nothing I'd like better than to be a good housewife."

Mary O'Reilly, freshman—"I've always had the urge to be a deep sea diver."

Mary Alice Guelker, junior—"I've got one, but I wouldn't tell you. Tee Hee." (N. B. Quote, "Foote", unquote.)

Marilyn Sappington, freshman—"If you really want the truth—I want to ride a white horse in a circus."

Marie Sansone, senior—"That's easy, I want to be an accompanist to some great man." (N. B. We'd be one to any man, if we could.)

Betty Boll, junior—"I want to own a dog kennel."

Mary Klecan, senior—"I'm just dying to live in the country."

Marguerite Fassero, senior—"Hogs, I want to raise them."

Louise Columbo, junior—"This isn't very original, but I want to marry money."

Rosemary Murphy, sophomore—"I want to have enough money to own a slave to scratch my back."

Anneliese Bauer

There's a certain senior who claims that her eye lashes curl a u t o m a t i c a l l y. Frankly, we have never heard of this, but since she protests so vigorously it must be true. The lashes under discussion belong to Anneliese Bauer one of our dietetics majors. She's one of the girls in white who prepare our meals in the cafeteria on Tuesday and Thursday. And when we say they're good, we really mean it.

Special Interest In Food

After graduation our heroine expects to intern in dietetics, and then she would like to get married. She tells us that the only hobby she has is sleeping, and some time she's going to take a day off to catch up. Being a major in dietetics, naturally she would have a special liking for food. Her three favorites are steak, ice-cream, and popcorn. It sounds like a horrible combination, but taken separately it might be good.

Creates New Sweater

But food isn't her only love, she also has a craze for fashions; that is, creating new fashions. Her latest dream is the knitting of an absolutely new type of sweater. It's one with gathers in it. Is Anneliese trying to cover up a mistake in knit two, puri two, or is this really a fashion creation?

This week's senior is a quiet, unassuming little girl with a subtle wit and a good sense of humor. Her famous last words on Tuesday and Thursday are, "I'm going home at five."

Every Catholic A Prey To Prejudice; Fairness Only Remedy

Father D'Arcy Reminds Us That Faith Is A Gift Of God

Reverend Father Martin D'Arcy, noted author and head of the only Catholic college of Oxford University, addressed the students of Fontbonne in assembly on Monday, October 27.

Father's lecture was concerned with an "examination of the educated Catholic conscience" with regard to prejudice. In defining prejudice, Father D'Arcy said that "it is a judgment, conscious or unconscious, which runs ahead of our reason." The need for reflection

Vote for Alumnae Entry In Table Setting Contest

Friday, November 7, 3:30 o'clock, is the deadline for voting in the Table Setting Contest sponsored by Stix-Baer and Fuller.

The Fontbonne College Alumnae Association has entered a table set for a faculty dinner. It is decorated in the purple and gold characteristic of Fontbonne. This table arrangement is deserving of your vote, and as future members of the alumnae you should feel a certain interest in this contest. So remember to scratch a ballot for Fontbonne Alumnae today or tomorrow if you happen to be at Stix. Voting is not limited to any certain persons and no charge is made for ballots.

Fashion Scribe Describes Divine Dresses Dreaming And Drifting About Town

By Gloria Pandjiris

Autumn's crisp, cool days are here at last to turn our thoughts from tennis games and terrace dancing to football and fireplaces, and all those other "delightfuls" that we enjoy so much. Everyone is thinking of what she would like to wear to that "big game", or open house, or (let us hope), the Sophomore Party.

Some have already chosen Fall outfits, and good-looking ones, too. While her mother was in New York, Louise LaBarge splurged on a new dress coat. She tells us that it is beige wool in a knobby weave, attractively trimmed with a mink collar which flares slightly in the front and graduates to a mere nothingness in the back. The self-covered buttons are highlighted in shiny gold. To complement this, Louise has chosen "the perfect date hat"—a small brown, off-the-face creation with speckled feathers peeping over the brim in front. (P. S. Her mother approved.)

Speaking of hats, Bettie Knetzer and Edwina Wright have chosen two which are really stunning. Bettie's is rich green and sets squarely behind her pompadour; it matches a dress of the same shade, trimmed with beige. Edwina's is the always "good-and-ready-to-go" black. It is of the bonnet type, and is accentuated with pale, heavenly blue feathers which match Eddie's eyes.

Betty Higgins' latest addition to her wardrobe is a brown, wool crepe dress. Gold and amber clips steer your attention to the beautifully draped bodice, and high-light this simple, but effective outfit.

Patriotism is the keynote of the day, and Liz Lucas is not going to be "out-patriotized." She has chosen a red, white, and blue checked suit made with a gored skirt, and cardigan type jacket.

Red, Red, and more Red! No matter where you go that seems to be the color. Dorie Lamping literally shines in a poppy-red wool with pearl clips and V neckline — V's for victory, you know!

Frannie Morse's pale skin and red-gold hair is complemented by a black wool dress coat with caracul on the collar and pocket. With this she wears a hat with matching fur trim. Plum is one of the newer shades this season and "Hank Sabadell" has chosen it in velveteen, accented with gold buttons and a gold kidskin belt.

For the more practical—and we all come to it sooner or later — Anna Sansone wears a cocoa brown wool suspender type jumper, made with three pleats in front and gored in back. One of the downtown stores has a honey of a plaid jumper with a gathered skirt and "little girl" tie in back. One of those new blouses with the embroidery thread stitching on the collar would go well with this.

For Pig-Tail Fiends Only! Why not go all the way with one of those dairymaid or Dutch girl hats? The Hats are darling. Now that you are all dressed for that game—or tea—or Sophomore Party, you can and will (I hope) be that "most sought after girl".

on this subject was emphasized by Father because he said, that while Catholics should be free from prejudice, they are guilty of prejudices of two types.

Prejudice of Great Nature.

One of these is the prejudice of a great nature, such as Hilaire Belloc or G. K. Chesterton, and the other, narrowness. He stated that our weaknesses lie in our acceptance of conclusions with no regard for the technique of their discovery. As Father said, we forget that faith is a gift and, quoting St. Paul, we should say, "There, but for the grace of God, go I."

Catholics Discard Superiority

As to the stand that Catholics should take on world events, Father pointed out that the Catholic viewpoint discards "complacent superiority" and realizes that it is "bound morally to support the unjustly attacked." Father D'Arcy spoke of a new era coming in the history of civilization in which the Catholic Church should show a new attitude of fairness. In discriminating between culture and barbarism, Father stated that barbarism placed emotion above reason while culture made emotion the servant of reason.

In conclusion, Father said that the complex problems of today are caused by selfish prejudice. He suggested as a remedy, fairness, sympathy, generosity, and charity.

A. C. P. Convention Here Nov. 20-22

The Associated Collegiate Press of America will hold its annual convention this year in St. Louis. The date has been set for November 20-21-22.

About seven hundred delegates are expected to attend. Representatives from three hundred colleges and universities throughout the country will be present.

Fontbonne was presented at the A. C. P. convention last year in Detroit. This year eight members of The Font staff and five members of the Fontbonne staff will be chosen as delegates from the college.

'41 Fontbonne Awarded Second Highest Rating In National College Yearbook Survey

The 1941 "Fontbonne" has just been notified that it has received a first class honor rating from the National Scholastic Press Association as a result of their annual survey of college yearbooks. This award is the second highest rating given by the National Scholastic Press Association. It is exceeded only by the classification of "All American."

Radio Theme

Judges commented favorably on the opening section, the excellent use of senior informal pictures, write-ups and cartoons, and the space devoted to activities. The plan of the yearbook, developed around a radio theme was given a rating of "excellent". This year the staff is working hard to merit a first place rating in the N. S. P. A. survey. All members are urged to work co-operatively in an effort to capture the "All-American" for 1942.

I. R. C. Elects Mary Alice Chandler Pres.

The International Relations Club will hold its next meeting November 11, at 7:30 p. m., in the Fine Arts Parlor. Father Scheller, Dean of the Social Service School at St. Louis University, will be guest speaker.

The presiding officers for the coming year are Mary Alice Chandler of Tulsa, Oklahoma, president; Roslyn Rohman of Peoria, Illinois, vice-president; Rosemary Daniel of Murphysboro, Illinois, secretary; Dorothy Casey of Potosi, Missouri, treasurer; and Kathleen Burke of St. Louis, publicity agent.

Members are now engaged in making scapulars for the boys in service. Plans are being made to join the local social clubs and to help in child welfare work. The first social function of the year was a dinner given at Garavelli's.

Dr. Clemens, moderator of the club, and Mary Alice invite all girls interested in this work to attend the next meeting.

By EVELYN HURLEY

"Marriage is a wonderful institution. But who the heck wants to spend the rest of their life in an institution? I think xxxxx—, oooooo xxxxx—" An excerpt from the famous last words of John Barrymore. The rest is very interesting, but therefore censored.

My dearest colleagues and fellow men stalkers, (Our Motto: "We never let a day pass by without a prey"—From the song of the same name), if, after applying my excellent advice on how to trap a male in six easy lessons, you are now in a position to contemplate marriage seriously, please don't make that fatal move of proposing to the unfortunate victim until you first cull over in your blonded little head the following pertinent points, and answer these questions from one who knows: 1. Have you a sense of humor? Can you split your appendix guffawing with fieldish glee when hubby decides to clean last week's catch of fish in the living room? Elusive little things, those scales, ain't they?

And when the Great One condescendingly informs you that you look like a refugee from a trench mortar in Madame de Nuts' spring millinery version of an orangatang in repose, do you gurgle with Delight, your purest mouth wash for the least money—"Guzzle It. You'll Like It."—or do you resort to tears, weaken, (ah! that's bad. Very bad.) and snag a fag, you hag? If, heaven forbid, you weaken, your husband will probably depart forever, and you will soon find yourself wearily singing the song you sang before you read this column! Cheerful ditty number 68 in the new revised edition of the Pioneer Community Song Sheet—75 favorites you love to sing.

"I'm a little prairie flower, growing wilder every hour; Nobody cares to cultivate me, I'm as wild as wild can be. Tu ra lu ra, lu ra lee.

(Pivot on last line, with forefinger on top of head.)"

It shouldn't happen to a dog! Well, what are you complaining about?

2. Is he black or white? Which-ever he may happen to be, don't forget to blend in your furnishings and decorations with his coloring. It's all the rage now.

3. Is he thoughtful and considerate? Would he call a doctor if you fractured a skull or ruptured a blood vessel, or is he forgetful about little things like that?

4. Has he many bad habits, such as beating women, murdering men, and strangling little children? If he does, that's bad. You know, they may develop into something really serious later on in life. At any rate, don't think it ain't been a real pleasure knowin' youse."

5. Have you a pair of good substantial water wings? These are an absolutely vital and essential necessity. For so saith Goldstein's version of the Bible: "The sea of matrimony is a perilous sea, treacherous even unto the most skilled swimmers. And this week I am giving away these lovely water wings, filled with air at no extra cost to you, the customer, and formerly $10.95, for a mere $10.89. Why, I'm losing money on the deal!" Let us, brethren, now observe a moment of silence in commemoration for all suckers and fish hooker in said sea . . . Amen.

6. Have you honestly and twoely considered the more serious aspects of marital life, such as having to peel onions during Jack Benny's program, preparing picnic lunches for the ants on torrid days that would make even sweet little you sizzle ten degrees hotter than Annie Sheridan, or being forced to apply a sledge hammer to Junior's cerebellum to squelch his screams, when deep down in your heart you kinda like the brat, and "it really hurts you more than it does him." (The exact words of my dear mother when she hit me on the head back in 1922.) So think carefully before dashing into holy wedlock. Remember, you'll never find the key to undo that lock. Peggy Joyce has a priority on it.

7. "It's not what you do, it's the way how'd ya do it."

8. I guess you'll have to dream the rest. Amen.

Democrat, the club had dinner at the Castilla.

The highlight of the Press Club's activities this year will be the evening of February 12. The club has rented the Little Theatre, and the play "Michael and Mary" by A. A. Milne will be presented at this time.

Life's Major Becomes College Major; Fontbonne Starts Family Course

"A vast majority of Fontbonne students are married within a short time after graduation. Since marriage is their major life career, why not make it their major college career?" And in these brief words is the synthesis of Dr. A. H. Clemens' opinion of the "Family Major", which is being offered at Fontbonne beginning this year.

Up until this time there have been classes in which family life and its various phases have been discussed, but no one student has concentrated all of these classes into a single course. The students in these groups believed that the family courses should be stressed more not only in this, but in every institution of higher education. As far as is known, Fontbonne is the only college in the country which is offering this major.

Breakdown of Family

The terrific breakdown in family life which has been greatly increasing in the past few years has resulted in so many annulments, divorces, and so much birth control that people are beginning to sit up and realize that something must be done. From these various causes an opportunity for Fontbonne students to major in a study of marriage and its relationships has evolved.

The major will provide courses not only in one, but in every department of the college. The different aspects presented will be religious, psychological, educational, biological, economical, sociological, and material. Children's literature, interior decoration of the home, art appreciation, ethics in the family, health aid, and nutrition for children will also be brought in.

MERITS FEATURE ARTICLE

Students majoring in this family course will prepare for their own family lives, social work among families, and graduate social work. Those who wish may take it as a sociology, secretarial, or journalism minor. The major in all its ramifications was presented to the student assembly on Monday. This innovation merited a full page article in the Post-Dispatch Sunday feature section during the month of October.

Grab A Man For Soph Frolic

The Sophomore Class will sponsor a party on Tuesday evening, November 18, at Westborough Country Club. Entertainment will be provided by popular recordings. The time is 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Pendergast, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. Pandjiris will act as chaperons for the evening. Tickets are $1.00 stag or drag, and may be obtained from any member of the sophomore class.

Don't forget the date, and you won't forget what a wonderful wonderful time you had.

Publications Will Sponsor "Michael And Mary"

The staff and the press club are sponsoring a play, "Michael and Mary", by A. A. Milne, on February 12, at the Little Theatre. The production will feature the especially witty dialogue for which Milne is noted. An unusual ending adds much to the audience's impression of the play itself. Further plans will be announced at a later date.

Guest Demonstrates Puppet Making

Miss Marjorie Sutherland of The St. Louis Puppet Guild was the guest of Delta Phi at their first meeting, October 13. Miss Sutherland spoke to the girls about methods of making and handling puppets. She emphasized various points by demonstration.

At their last meeting, October 20, the girls finished work on their puppets.

Miss Sutherland has been asked to visit the club again for the purpose of training the girls in the manipulation of the puppets.

Fontbonne-Harris Will Clash On November 7 In Return Hockey Tilt

Harris Defeats Fontbonne In Opener, 4-3; Pep Rally Before Game Is Planned

Here's a hot tip for the sports fans — for thrills, suspense, and fun, join the jostle, hie in the hustle, bust in the bustle, rush in the rustle, take in the tussle — I mean be at the hockey game Friday, November 7, when Fontbonne clashes sticks with Harris at four o'clock to even the score in games.

Harris Trims to Tune of 4-3

Although Harris trimmed Fontbonne 4-3 in the opener, the popcorn eating throngs were also fed plenty of excitement, proven by their display of pep, energy, and cheers. The game was hardly underway when Harris "snuk" in with a goal. From then on the play was fast and fiery; Liz Lucas galloped goalward, while Betty Boll on the defensive relieved many tense moments by sending the ball and Harris players scurrying in the opposite direction. Captain Louise LaBarge could have won another track meet with her speed.

Goal Doesn't Count

In the last few minutes of play, Harris leading 4-3, the Fontbonne cheers, wild with joy, turned to groans when Fontbonne's tying goal did not count because of off-sides.

If you still need to be converted to hockey see Jane Marie Simon who said: "Hockey isn't as exciting as basketball", but who was seen jumping up and down and screeching louder than a siren. She had to admit that it was the best game of hockey she had ever seen. The enthusiasm was not diminished by the defeat as the spectators left the field, making plans for a pep rally before some future game.

Play Monticello, Nov. 29

These fans have been provided with a perfect occasion for their rally since Monticello has asked Fontbonne to vie with them as a part of their Field Day. Check November 29, on your calendar as the date you're going to Monticello. Remember the fun had by two busloads who went last year!

Alice Sawyers' Poem Will Be Published In Who's Who

Alice Lee Sawyers' poem, My Treasure Chest, has been accepted for publication by Who's Who in Poetry in America. Alice was notified of this honor the fifteenth of October and expects her work to be published in February of 1942.

The poem was dedicated to the author's mother, Mrs. H. L. Sawyers of Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Home Ec. Pledges Under New Rules; Supper Opens Season

A buffet supper for all prospective members, freshmen, and new students majoring in Home Economics, will be given by the nationally affiliated Home Ec Club on November 6. Serving will begin at 6 o'clock, and the regular meeting will follow at 7:30. After business and new plans have been discussed, each member and club aspirant will begin work on a constructive project which must be completed before Christmas. Marguerite Fassero has charge of the refreshments, and Betty Higgins heads the invitation committee.

Entrance into the club has been made more difficult this year. At the first meeting on October 8, it was decided that each "pledge" must be present at 2 out of 3 meetings preceding initiation in January; projects must be formulated and completed by Christmas; and grades must be on a "C" average.

Also new stipulations for old members were imposed. If more than two meetings are missed throughout the year, members will be automatically dropped. Reinstatement may be obtained only by vote of the members and will be allowed but once. These revisions were intended to make this one of the best clubs, educationally and socially, in the school.

Footlights Club Holds Tryouts for Pledges

Tryouts for the Footlights Club were held October 24 and 27. Those who were pledged to the club as a result of the tryouts were Jeanne Mooney, Claire Witte, Rita Perkinson, Anna Sansone, Gloria Sicking, Yvonne Pascal, Mary O'Reilly, and Mary Adele Wintz.

At its last executive meeting the board appointed Alice Lee Sawyers secretary of the club. The group also looked at samples of membership pins, but nothing definite was decided.

The club met in the den last evening at 7:15.

Poetry Club Will Discuss Gerard Manley Hopkins

The next meeting of the Poetry Club will be held on November 10, 7:00 o'clock, in the Fine Arts Parlor. Adelaide Allen will read a paper on the life and works of Gerard Manley Hopkins, an outstanding nineteenth century Catholic poet. Alice Lee Sawyers and Sylvia Maestro will read several selections from his poems.

Evelyn Numainville will give a general talk on the technique of poetry. Other selections will be a piano solo, a vocal solo, and an original poem by Evelyn Hurley.

C. S. M. C. Discusses India Missions At Monthly Meeting

The second monthly meeting of the C. S. M. C. was held Monday, November 3, at 10:30 in the auditorium. After the routine reports were given, Betty Boll, junior, gave a lecture about the missions in India. In her talk she explained what remarkable progress the missionaries are making in spite of the hardships that face them. Rosemary Murphy, sophomore, read a story about the Motor Missions conducted by the Redemptorist priests in the state of North Carolina.

Loraine Flynt, president of the unit, attended the meeting of the St. Louis Conference of the C. S. M. C. at St. Louis University, Friday, October 31. She reported the suggestions and ideas which she had received from the girls here at school.

Fontbonne's missionary work has been much appreciated by priests in both home and foreign missions. Several of them have sent letters which have been read at the meetings. Father Crane is pleased with the generous response the girls have given to his requests for religious articles and periodicals. These have been sent to soldiers stationed at Camp Roberts in California, where he is chaplain.

As a mark of his gratitude for the contributions to the Propagation of the Faith, Monsignor Carroll has sent twelve beautiful Madonnas of the World for our bulletin boards. These are changed monthly and serve as constant reminders for continued zealous missionary work here at Fontbonne.

Fontbonne-St. Louis U. Debate At Classical Club

The next meeting of the Classical Club will be held November 16, at 2:30, at Maryville College. The aim of the club is to foster an interest in classical languages, and to bring together students who are interested in this field.

The main topic of discussion will be a debate between St. Louis University and Fontbonne on the subject: "General Latin is helpful in the study of European History". Mary McCabe will take the negative side of the question.

The Classical Club was recently affiliated with the Beta Zeta Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, which is the National Classical Fraternity.

Mrs. Harrington Heads Sigma Beta Mu This Year

Mrs. Edward Harrington is the newly elected president of Sigma Beta Mu. The other officers are: Mary Alice Chandler, vice-president; Dorothy Sackbauer, secretary; Tookie Allen, treasurer; Lorraine Ash, librarian; and Lee Maguire as student council representative.

Guest Singer.

"A second Deanna Durbin", ten year old Lorraine Hedtkamp, accompanied at the piano by Sara Jean Sansone, sang the following numbers: "Ave Marie" and "Day Dreams" by Gounod, "The Last Rose of Summer" by Flotaw, and the "Blue Danube" by Strauss, after which a solo, MacGregor's "Russian Dance," was played by Sara Jean Sansone.

Spanish Club Nominates Officers for Election November 17

The first meeting of the Spanish Club was held October 23, at four o'clock, in the recital room. The following candidates for executive offices were nominated: For president, Henrietta Sabadell and Dorothy Casey; for secretary-treasurer, Edwina Wright, Kathleen Carroll, Rosemary Daniels, and Anita DiStefano; for entertainment chairman, Edwina Wright. A crossword puzzle was worked, and Kathleen Carroll and Rosemary Walsh won a box of candy as first prize. Later Mr. Monaghan played a few Spanish records.

The next meeting will be held November 17 at four o'clock in the recital room. Anyone who is interested is cordially invited to come. Election of officers will be held, and an interesting as well as enjoyable program is promised.

Fr. Club Presents History Of Paris and Notre Dame

Le Cercle Francaise, the French club at Fontbonne, held its regular meeting of the month on Monday, October 27. The entire program was conducted in French. A short history of Paris, Notre Dame, and the Louvre was given. At the close of the meeting the members rose to sing the national anthem of France, the "Marseillaise." A committee chosen to provide entertainment included Louise Columbo, Pat Luce, Jaclyn Meyer, and Suzanne Nachtmann.

Plans were made to revise the constitution of Le Cercle Francaise at the next meeting.

Cheer Leaders Will Hold Bonfires Before Athletic Games

The 1941 athletic teams are going to have lots of moral support. An organized cheering section composed of Evelyn Hurley, Betty Raupp, Connie Connors, and Mary McKeon has outlined an active program for the coming year. The cheer leaders plan to have all school pep rallies before the games. They are asking student support in inaugurating bonfires before the remaining tilts this year. This will be a new innovation at Fontbonne.

The girls are going to have the new cheers mimeographed and distributed to the student body. But they ask you to please return the sheets. In past years you have failed to respond to this plea. The squad has some cheers that are really "killer-dillers", so let's all get behind them and come out to root for the old home team!

Father Case Speaks on Role of Student Today

At the last Sodality meeting, October 27, Father Case from Saint Louis University was guest speaker. Father talked on the important role a Catholic student plays in life today. One of the chief ways we can influence others is by always setting a good example. Father particularly urged the girls never to do anything that they would not do before going to Communion.

The rosary-prayerbook drive has proved a huge success, and Marie Sansone and the other officers wish to thank the students for their wholehearted cooperation.

They hope everyone will support the Christmas drive with as much enthusiasm as they evidenced in the first drive. The project will be discussed further at the next meeting.
