Giving the Fontbonne Sodality Honor called "The Extra Mile Award," May 2, 1962, to Anne Niemeier '59, is Rev. Joseph Boland, S.J., Spiritual Director. Conferred for outstanding apostolic work after graduation and for continuing the work begun as a Fontbonne student, the plaque will be awarded annually. Special fields in which Anne is now working are Catholic education and charity among the poor.

Students Elect Class Officers

During April and May the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen elected their class officers for the 1962-63 school year.

The senior officers will be Eleanor Halloran, president; Anne Latta, vice president; Victoria Bayot, secretary; and Sheila Brown, treasurer.

Julianne Lamm, president; Nanciellen Davis, vice president; Mary Rose Enderlin, secretary; and Elaine Montileone, treasurer, will be the junior officers.

The sophomore class will be headed by Nancy Gund, president; Rita Solovitz, vice president; Margo Vachon, secretary; and Joan Farrell, treasurer.

Eleanor Halloran graduated from the Academy of the Visitation, Julianne Lamm and Nancy Gund are alumnae of St. Joseph's Academy.

SGA Sponsors Mission Day

The Student Government Association completed its activities for the school year, 1961-62, with a Community Mission Day on Monday, May 14. The students were requested to sacrifice $1.00 each to help the foreign mission program of the Sisters of St. Joseph, who have missions in Japan, Hawaii, and Peru.

The leadership workshop for new and old SGA, class, and club officers was held Saturday, May 12. Lectures on student government theory and small group discussions on different facets of student government were scheduled. Through these informal discussions, past officers were able to share with new officers the experiences and insights they had gained.

At the last student council meeting, club evaluations were held. Student activities chairman, Patricia Cramer, and her club evaluations' committee presented their report of Delta Phi, Home Economics Club, FAA, Sigma Beta Mu, and the Fontbonne Theatre Players. All the clubs were rechartered, and Sigma Beta Mu was given special commendation for its activities.

Because of details yet to be worked out concerning the student court, and because the alleviating

Five Clubs Choose Heads

Following the SGA and class elections, five clubs held their elections. The results of the voting are as follows:

FONTBONNE THEATRE PLAYERS—Judith Miniace, president; Shirley Jahoda, vice president; Dixie Lee Moyer, service secretary; Mary Beth Olyniec, business secretary.

IRC—Ruth Ann Hostler, president; Barbara Kadlec, vice president-treasurer; Ann Dryden, secretary.

SODALITY — Martha Holloran, prefect; Margaret Gunn, vice prefect; Judith Gelmi, secretary.

HOME ECONOMICS — Carole Vogel, president; Margaret Winkelmann, vice president; Mary Ellen Clarkin, secretary; Mary Beth Olyniec.

LEGION OF MARY—Carmeline Strano, vice president; Mary Beth Paul, treasurer. Officers are chosen for a three years' term; the other officers remain the same.

College Receives $27,590 U.S. Grant

Fontbonne has received a $27,590 governmental grant for its program of training teachers of the deaf, according to information received by Sister Mary Alfred, president, from Missouri Senators Edward V. Long and Stuart Symington.

Part of the money will be used for scholarships for students now in the program who will enter their senior year next fall, and the remainder will go for equipment and teacher salaries to improve the program, Sister Mary Alfred said.

Next year the first class of this program — six students — will be graduated. The students are Patricia Marsh, Leota Hynek, Kathleen Burns, Carol Conway, Susan Flesch, Mary Lee Britt.

They will spend their senior year in residence at St. Joseph's Institute for the Deaf, 1483 Eighty-second, University City. Thirty students are presently enrolled in the program.

Marilyn Costello To Direct Clinic

Senior Marilyn Costello will direct the speech clinic during this coming summer in the absence of Sister Dorothea Marie, who will do special work at the University of Kansas City. Marilyn will graduate this month with a major in speech correction. Sister Anna Rose will be the consultant.

Approximately twenty persons currently receiving therapy in the clinic are not quite ready to be dismissed, and consequently they will continue on through the summer session. The classes will include the following problems: articulation, stuttering, aphasia, and hard-of-hearing.

Marilyn has done superior practice teaching during the year, and the department is confident that the summer program in speech therapy will continue the excellent work of the regular school year. Many children enrolled in the nursery school summer session will also receive speech correction.

Ann Luttrell will complete a double major in speech correction and psychology in August. Janice Breher will also finish her requirements in speech correction at the

Wanted! Booknappers

So! You're one of those! I thought you looked like the type—with those shiny little beady eyes that are set too close.

I know your kind! Your hands move as quickly as a magician's when you get them on a book.

Of course, your motto is "Do unto others before they do unto you." In other words, "Get that library book and keep it out all semester so no else can use it."

Now that the year is almost over, the least you can do is "return to the scene"—the library—taking back those "slightly" overdue books plus the ones you didn't even bother to check out.

Yes, I'm talking to you. You—the one reading this with the red face. You—the library book snatcher!

Fulbright Grants Now Available

More than 800 American students will have an opportunity to pursue graduate study or research in 46 countries in the academic year 1963-64 through scholarships made available under the Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961. The Institute of International Education administers the graduate student scholarship program for the Department of State.

Three types of grants are available. A full United States government grant provides round-trip transportation, maintenance, tuition, and books. These awards are available for study in Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium-Luxembourg, Brazil, Burma, Ceylon, Chile, China (Republic of), Denmark, Ecuador, Finland, France, West Germany, Greece, Iceland, India, Iran, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Korea, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Peru, Philippines, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, United Arab Republic, and the United Kingdom.

The second type of government grant provides a travel award from the United States government in conjunction with foreign grants which provide tuition and full or partial maintenance. These joint awards are available for study in Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Poland, Rumania, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, and Venezuela.

The final type of award, Travel-Only Grants, supplements a scholarship received from a foreign government, university, or private donor. Travel-Only awards are available for study in Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Israel, Italy, and Netherlands.

General eligibility requirements for all types of grants include: citizenship at time of application, a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant, language proficiency sufficient to carry out the proposed study and for communication with the people of the host country, and good health.

A good academic record and a demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary. Preference is given to applicants under 35 who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applications for scholarships for 1963-64 will be accepted until November 1, 1962. Requests for applications must be postmarked by October 15. Students enrolled at a college or university should write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 800 Second Avenue, New York 17, New York.

A Few Opinions After Writing Junior Essay

Recently four members of the junior class were requested to state their opinions of the Junior Essay, which was written on Monday, April 30. The topic sentence of the Essay was: "Freedom is secure only in a society in which men accept personal responsibility."

The following are their comments, each writer majoring in a different field.

Joan Theis, a music major—"Though there was considerable speculation and misunderstanding on the part of many students at the initial announcement of the proposed Junior Essay, I sincerely believe that the fundamental idea—to make students aware of the problems and responsibilities present in contemporary society—was sound."

"Even though certain of the required dealings dealt with subject matter with which I was not familiar, most of the selections were provocative, informative, and interesting. I do believe, however, that the focal point should have been devoted to oral discussion rather than to a written essay."

"However, I believe more individual growth and development can be attained through an organized program whereby ideas and views can be freely exchanged among students. In this way one can actually test the strength and validity of her theories in the face of possible opposition. This goal, I believe, and not the production of a literary masterpiece, should be the true objective of such a program."

Mary Ann Noonan, an English major—"I think that the Junior Essay is a worthwhile project. I did not read all of the books, but I feel that I profited from the ones I did read, from group discussions, and from the writing of the essay itself. (I would advise future Essay-ers to read all of the books, though). The subject of this year's essay was interesting and thought-provoking."

Joan Stepinski, a mathematics major—"Theoretically Junior Essay is a wonderful idea, but it presents a few practical problems. Keeping up with regular tests, reports, and class preparation along with extra-curricular activities was very difficult. I read the books during the first two vacations, and I had formed a few ideas; but I did not remember enough specific details to relate my thoughts to the reading."

Beverly Hertenstein, a history major—"I think that the discussion groups for the Junior Essay were very effective. They fulfilled their purpose as they were stimulating when the students participated actively. But they did not always pertain to the particular book. I think that the dis-

New Honor Society Has First Officers

The newly formed campus chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social studies honor society, has elected its first officers. The results, announced on Wednesday, May 2, at 5:00 p.m. at the banquet-induction ceremonies, are as follows: Miss Jeanne Manley, faculty secretary-treasurer; Carol Stoessel, student president; Rosemary Kiske, student vice president; Rev. Kenneth Paluczak and Sister Ernest Marie.

Sister Dolorita Marie is the faculty sponsor.

Biblical Institute Dates, June 15-16

The second annual Biblical Institute for the Sisters of St. Joseph will take place June 15 and 16 on campus. This year's institute will concern the New Testament and will be given by Rev. Barnabas Ahearn, C.P.

Father Ahearn is an eminent scripture scholar and has written for numerous periodicals. At present he is an instructor in Sacred Scripture at the Passionist Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky.

The topic of last summer's institute was the Old Testament.

'Diary of Anne Frank' Produced in-the-Round

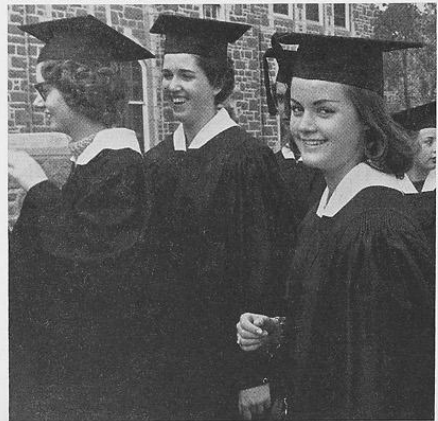

Following the annual banquet of the Fontbonne Theater Players, the new officers for the forthcoming year were installed: Judith Miniac, president; Shirley Jahoda, vice-president; Dixie Le May, service-secretary; Mary Beth Olyniec, business-secretary; and Carol Lutz, treasurer.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" was presented in-the-round in Medaille ballroom May 10 and 11. Heading the cast was Margaret Gunn as Anne Frank. She was supported by Carol Lutz, Mrs. Frank; Grif Dickerson, Mr. Frank; Judith Miniac, Margot; Suzanne McNulty, Mrs. Van Daan; Joseph La Martina, Mr. Van Daan; William Parker, Peter Van Daan; David Greenwood, Mr. Dussel; Charlotte Rice, Miep; James Hill, Mr. Kraler.

The crew was under the direction of Miss Carmelita Schmelig, manager; Mary Beth Olyniec, stage crew; Marlene Gruber, scenery and house manager; Barbara Kestings, properties; Shirley Jahoda, lights; Anne Latta, sound; and Dixie Le May, make-up.

Discussion on Christmas in the World (by Jacques LeClerc) brought out many worthwhile ideas and was the most beneficial to us as Catholic college students."

On the Way to Honors' Convocation are Juniors Pamela Stoll, Mary Ellen Murphy, and Donna Trapp.

The new and old members of the student council enjoyed a joint dinner at the Cheshire Inn, May 8. This event gave old members the opportunity to relax after a year of hard work and gave new members an opportunity to meet together informally and look forward to their year of service.
